AMERICAN ARMORED UNITS REACH REIMS

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE SPEED with which the Allied mechanized forces are advancing and cutting the Germans to pieces in France, in a warfare of amazing fluidity, is impressing observers with the possibility that the retreating Nazis may arrive on their own frontiers in such disorganized state as to precipitate chaos within the Reich itself.

This idea fits with the fear among military leaders in Washington that Hitler and his captains may find refuge in neutral countries. It's a year since the Allies asked neutrals not to give sanctuary to these war criminals, and the subject may be raised with them again now.

Should Hitler and the other Nazi leaders flee in the face of military disaster, it would create an unprecedented situation. The vast German public would have at their organization and no head, for the dictator and his personally appointed aides are the sole government over a people who are so utterly regimented that they have no will of their own.

Just suppose that on top of this the disorganized armies should retreat into Germany and carry on the fight in separate units under isolated Nazi officers—and that's exactly what some observers would have a fine keg of kraut. There would be no armistice day, but the Allied forces would have to go in and clean a mighty dirty house.

The above isn't a prediction. It's a possibility.

We don't get much help in trying to gauge the present climactic fighting by what happened at the end of the World war. There's little similarity. Militarily speaking Hitler is much worse off than was the old Kaiser at this stage in the conflict.

In 1918 the Germans were strongly entrenched in the great Hindenburg line on the British front, and its outposts along the Belgian American and French front. The Allies had to smash through these powerful defenses by frontal attack. We never flanked one of them and the Germans always maintained a line.

NOW, HOWEVER, the armies haven't gone to ground as they did in those days of trench and concrete warfare. The fighting is largely fluid. This has been "flanking" war right from the start—racing around your enemy's wings and trapping him. The Hitlerites inaugurated it, and even flanked the "impenetrable" Maginot line. The Allies adopted it, improved it and have used it to slaughter Nazis in Africa, in Russia, and now in France.

U. S. BOMBERS HIT BLOWS AT KIEL, BREMEN

British Heavies Support Russian Troops in Raiding Baltic Ports

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Large formations of American bombers battered the continent today, bombing the German ports of Kiel and Bremen through clouds and the robot platforms in northern France.

Very heavy forces of British bombers before dawn supported the Russian armies of the north with attacks on the Nazi Baltic ports of Stettin and Konigsberg, and Mosquitos hurled many two-ton block-busters on battered Berlin and Hamburg.

Weather was bad and bombers cast their explosives by instruments through clouds. A communiqué said one bomber was lost over the robot bomb sites and that all fighters returned. No mention was made of losses over the German objectives.

Up to 500 Flying Fortress and Liberator with Mustang fighter escorts smashed at the Pas de Calais targets. More than 500 Fortresses and 250 Mustangs went over the German ports.

The flying bomb targets are just in front of advancing Allied armies in northern France.

More than 1,000 heavy bombers participated in the overnight attacks, unloading approximately 1,500 tons of high explosives and incendiaries upon Stettin and another great cargo of destruction upon Konigsberg.

This twin blow was in direct support of Russian armies battering at Germany's eastern frontiers, both the Baltic port of Stettin and the East Prussian capital of Konigsberg being important links in German supply lines leading to the Russian front.

An hour after the attack upon Stettin, the Air ministry said, reconnaissance revealed smoke from very large fires rising to a great height.

Both Berlin and Hamburg were hit by speedy Mosquitos, which carry a bomb load of 4,500 pounds. The Air ministry said 41 planes were lost in the overnight operations, during which many mine were laid in enemy waters.

Citation Is Awarded Sergt. Butch Vollmer

Staff Sergt. George R. (Butch) Vollmer, now in England after serving with the 44th Troop Carrier Squadron, 316th Troop Carrier Group in Africa, Sicily and Italy has been awarded the presidential citation for outstanding performance of duty while working with a heavy bomb group in Libya.

Sergt. Vollmer, son of Mrs. Laura Vollmer of Woodland ave., who also wears the four bronze stars for participation in the Egyptian-Libyan, Tunisian, Sicilian and Italian campaigns, served with the air group which took part in the bombing of oil fields at Ploesti, Rumania, Aug. 1.

While stationed in Egypt, Sergt. Vollmer was sent on detached service to Tripoli, where he was in charge of a freight depot handling supplies flown in from Cairo. The air route for freight was the only way supplies could be transported across the desert to reach troops in that area. At his depot freight was segregated and forwarded to fighter groups with the Eighth Army and the desert task forces. He later was sent from Libya to Tunisia and then to Sicily.

Sergt. Vollmer has been in service since Feb. 22, 1942, and has been overseas 20 months.

ONE REASON WHY HITLER HAS MANPOWER TROUBLE

One reason why Adolf Hitler is scraping the bottom of his manpower barrel is seen in the remarkable photo above. It shows part of a stockade holding 10,000 German prisoners, captured in the Allied drive in France. They are standing by for lunch—probably the war's longest chow line. Enemy brass hats, too, are learning what it means to be the conquered instead of the conqueror. Photo at right shows German officers, bereft of Nazi arrogance, being marched through a Paris street by members of the Maquis forces who helped liberate the French capital.

Nazi Soldiers Tired Of War, Diaries Sent Here Disclose

A defeated, disorganized once-arrogant German army whose surviving members are tired of war and homesick is the picture gathered from diaries taken from two captured Germans by Lee Christian, former Salem man now serving with the United States Second Infantry Division in France.

The diaries, which have been translated, were written by two members of the German 333rd Infantry Division. Christian, a field engineer for the Ohio Edison Co. here before his enlistment in the army more than two years ago, sent the letters to his former "boss," Arthur V. Smith, Ohio Edison maintenance superintendent. One of the diaries is published today. The other will be printed tomorrow. They are self-explanatory.

June 6—Today at 0200 hours the enemy landed on French soil, supported by a large number of planes and ships. Let them come; the more the better. We shall throw them back into the sea. We are prepared for them.

June 7—No one knows yet when we may be used on the invasion front. When that hour comes we will show the Tommy what we can do. I pity the man who gets in the way of our rifles. We shall have no mercy. I, too, feel in me an almost "holy hate" of the enemy.

June 17—We had to walk 45 Km. to the town of Pledran. There we took as many vehicles from the population as we could find. All day and all night we are being hunted down by American fighters and American bombers.

June 19—Again we had to march some 40 Km. to reach some small town. A woman invited myself and another fellow to have eggs. We talked a long time. We told her that we had to leave at 9 o'clock so that we would be back by dark so that we would be too late. Anyhow, our unit left without us and it took us two days to find them.

Feels French Dislike

June 21—I feel like a beachcomber. I walk around in a uniform and steal food. One can feel that the French people dislike us. What has happened to our food supplies? We haven't received any rations for four days. If it were not for the green apples on the tree and a chicken or a rabbit we would probably not be alive anymore.

June 24—Thanks to our officer, who once again has made a mistake, we had to march an additional 10 Km. 42 Km. in all. Now we are near St. Denis Le Gast. My evening meal consisted of one-half pound of butter, green apples and some cider.

July 5—Today came the order to attack in the morning. I am happy because I can now do something to contribute to the glorious victory which we will achieve under the guidance of our Fuehrer and for the everlasting greatness of Germany.

July 6—The Americans have broken through. As a matter of fact, Turn to DIARIES, Page 5

65,000 Ships Built In Five Years by U. S. Navy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Navy Secretary Forrestal reported today that the United States, "the greatest naval power on earth," has built 65,000 vessels of all types in the last five years.

He said the giant armada of new craft represents 9,000,000 tons of naval shipping. Of the total tonnage approximately 36 per cent is made up of warships, 22 per cent of landing craft and the remainder of auxiliaries and naval vessels of other types.

BRICKER TO ASK VOTE AMENDMENT

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30.—Governor John W. Bricker said today he would ask the special session of the legislature convening next week to amend the law so soldiers' ballots could be counted whether marked by black pencil or other means.

Ohio's election laws specify that voters must mark their ballots with a black pencil. The governor has been under pressure from Democratic leaders and others to have the law amended so ballots marked with pen, or any other legible means, could be counted.

The special session was called originally to appropriate funds for an increase of teachers' salaries. The governor said today he would extend the call in his message to the legislature at the opening session, requesting that the section specifying the use of a black pencil be amended. The amendment would constitute a suspension of the section only for the duration of the war.

The governor said he had talked with a number of soldiers and had been informed that many of them had marked their absentee ballots with pen.

In addition, he added, he had checked into the situation in other states and had found that only two states were explicit in their provisions as to the manner in which soldiers' ballots should be marked.

World War 1 Site 50 Miles From Belgium

(By The Associated Press)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 30.—American armored units reached Reims today and stormed across the Vesle river.

Reims is 50 miles south of Belgium and 107 miles from the German frontier.

The United States armor advanced several miles to the east and north of the ancient cathedral city, a siege bastion of the last World war.

Other units reached a point 10 miles north of Reims on the Aisne river, while to the south one of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s many swift columns stabbed across the Marne at Epemay.

Chalons on the Marne was captured along with Les Grandes Loges, eight miles northwest.

Vitry, also on the river of three battles, was being mopped up as the Americans pushed forward all along a broad front forming an expanding arc east of Paris.

British troops plunging ahead beyond the Seine advanced 11 miles north of Etrepagny to Neufmarche, which is 25 miles from the river.

The Allies now have consolidated their hold on the north bank of the Seine from Louviers to Paris, a distance of 45 airline miles but considerably more along the meandering course of the river.

Rouen Evacuated

American steel and infantry thrust within 38 miles of the Belgian border, battling on the approaches to Laon in a quick roll-back of Germans retreating from the Aisne river.

To the west, the German high command declared the port-city of Rouen on the Seine had been evacuated. British spearheads bit as deep as 20 miles above the Seine between Paris and the sea, heading toward the "buzz-bomb" coast.

Two great Allied armies were swiftly slicing up northern France. The U. S. Third army, rolling forward northeast of Paris from two bridgeheads over the Aisne at Soissons and Pont-Arcy 14 miles farther east, struck within two miles of Laon, 19 miles beyond Soissons. The Belgian border was but 38 miles ahead of these columns picking up more than a mile an hour.

East of Paris, the doughboys cleaned up Vitry-Le-Francois on the upper Marne. It is 96 miles from the German frontier and 15 from Verdun, siege city of the first world conflict.

Germans by-passed and cut up by lightning armored strokes were being killed or gassed by mop-up columns in a great area northeast and east of Paris.

Supreme headquarters did not confirm immediately the fall of Rouen. Berlin said all harbor installations there had been destroyed.

Outflank Le Havre

British forces advancing 20 miles above their Seine bridgehead at Vernon captured Longchamps and Maineville.

The Americans and British over the Seine were joined into a 35-

New Students Must Register Thursday

All pupils who have moved into Salem during the summer, and who expect to attend the senior high school, are asked to register tomorrow in the High school principal's office.

Registration hours will be from 9:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. The office is on the third floor.

It is especially important that all new pupils register before school starts, because if this is left until the opening day of school, they will not be able to start classes on time with the regular pupils and will get behind in their work. Principal Benman Ludwig explained.

There will be a meeting of all freshmen 1:30 p. m. next Tuesday for the purpose of becoming acquainted with their schedules, finding their rooms and getting general information relative to High school procedure.

Home room assignments will be announced the latter part of this week. Classes begin next Wednesday.

Nazis Testify Before Atrocities Commission In Mass Murders Of Men, Women, Children

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

LUBLIN, Poland, Aug. 27.—(Delayed)—Four German prisoners of war stood with a bored air in front of a Russian-Polish atrocities commission here tonight and told their stories of Majdanek, perhaps the greatest horror in Nazi Europe.

In curt phrases they asserted that men, women and children of 22 nationalities had been gassed, hanged, shot, burned, drugged or starved to death in the three years of the operation of the Majdanek barbed-wire enclosed encampment in a rolling meadowland at the edge of Lublin. Russians and Poles have estimated that it received more than half a million persons doomed to extermination.

Majdanek is a ghastly fantasy. It was established for murder on a vast but methodical scale. Until a group of American and British correspondents visited it today—with its six concrete vaults for execution by cyanide or carbon monoxide gas, its open air crematorium surrounded with skeletons, its mounds of human ashes mixed with manure for fertilizing cabbage patches and its overflow burial ground in a pine woods carpeted with decaying bodies—most of these newspapermen could not even begin to imagine the proportions of its frightfulness.

Tonight, with our clothes still reeking of the dead, we sat in a stuffy Lublin courtroom while three German SS (Elite guard) officers and one German civilian renegade spoke indifferently of Majdanek's scenes of slaughter and blamed all on "orders from above."

N. A. Stahl, a blond, six-foot German butcher, arrested in 1939 for selling meat in the black market, told in a clear, strong voice of his incarceration in Majdanek, during which he once became a member of the barracks police detail.

"I have seen a tractor haul as many as 400 corpses at one time from the bath and disinfection house to the ovens on the hill," he said. "One day I saw the bodies of 137 Polish children who had been gassed. Another time I saw a group of Polish women marched up a hill to be shot to save the trouble of gassing them. They were ordered to disrobe. One refused, a girl about 23 to 29. Two men tied her hands and legs, put her on a steel stretch-

Quarantine

Except for rear-guard resistance, German forces withdrawing from France are not expected to stand and fight in a major battle. They have been mauled too severely to organize themselves in the face of unrelenting attack from the air and on land. Their defenses have been tangled up by Allied movements. They lack manpower to create a sufficient mass at any one point to be formidable. They are committed to a strategy of retreat, and that includes the forces still guarding the invasion coast. These have a shorter distance to retreat than the forces in France, but within a matter of a few weeks it is likely all surviving Germans in the west will have withdrawn to the Rhine, only natural rallying point on their way back home.

At the same time, the retreat from the eastern front, if current signs of a renewed Russian offensive are continued, will occur over a longer and more uncertain front, with no natural defense line to retire to—no Siegfried line backed up by a great river. There is only Germany. If in the meantime the Allies continue to advance in Italy, the coming of winter will find Germany bottled up well within its own borders—perhaps within only a fraction of its own pre-war territory.

It is easy to imagine what might happen with Germans held in close quarantine. It is possible, in fact, to believe that in the absence of some better method, that might be far better than surrender within the next few weeks. If Germany had a few months in which to settle its internal grievances, the Allies might be spared the trouble and expense of many a war guilt trial.

Must Someone Be Blamed?

With OWI adding its official information to previous disclosures of lagging production in certain war material lines, there will be more diligent search than ever for a goat to bear the blame. But must someone be blamed because more tanks are needed to chase Germans, or more heavy guns and shells required to blast them out of strongholds? Must someone be blamed because demands for heavy trucks are held up by a bottleneck in foundries? Must someone be blamed because aerial warfare has hit such a tremendous stride that the need for bombs has succeeded expectations?

Undoubtedly it would be possible to find a goat for every one of the 13 critical lists lagged by OWI. There is a shortage of wood because selective service took too many woodsmen. Shipbuilding and ship repair need more men because they are operations carried on in relatively small coastal areas whose extra labor must be imported. Aircraft radar—signal equipment—is a new industry and subject to the usual chaos that goes with getting a new industry date production.

There is no call to blame anyone for these things; they are part of the war. Ability to lick them as they come up is the secret of victory. Germany has lost its ability. The United States still can stumble and take remedial steps—but the grumbling does nothing but ruffle tempers and add confusion. It neither adds nor takes away anything from the fact that 13 war programs need special attention and will get it, to speed victory.

Talking Doesn't Make It So

All the anticipated problems of French liberation have been set aside for the moment, while Frenchmen celebrate the release of Paris. But when the celebration ends, the problems will still be there.

The French cannot go back to their past, and they cannot see clearly into the future. The mistakes that preceded the debacle of 1940 must not be repeated. Politically, France had become weak and decadent. Economically, it was floundering in a blind alley.

Its people have been told that they are expected to reorganize themselves as a major power—one of a Big Five. Another member of this Big Five is China, whose pre-war condition was so chaotic that China's future must be determined by ability to break with the handicaps of its past. In discussion of post-war plans and organizations, the status of France and China is certain to get much closer attention than it has received so far. Including them as members of a group which will bear responsibility for international stabilization and security is a magnificent gesture, but it will take more than talking to qualify them in their post-war roles.

Strong nations are not created by fiat, and it may be that one of the post-war problems now being created is the apparent assumption that Frenchmen and Chinese will be able to do in the future more than they have shown themselves capable of doing in the recent past.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, Aug. 31

SUDDEN NEWS or an avalanche of opportunity for outstanding success, or strange adventures, may prove bewildering or confusing, as happy and propitious as the circumstances seem to appear. And appearances will not be of deceptive variety if reason, sound judgment and balanced action be utilized and not erratic, impetuous and tempestuous urges be held in leash. Inner, subjective, or intuitive forces are uppermost, carrying emotions, feelings and sensations into power and upsetting the seat of reason and practicality. Exceptional situations and contacts are likely, with high promise of business, financial, and professional enterprise. The social and romantic developments are similarly subject to emotional experiences.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of strange, baffling, exotic and quixotic experiences and adventures, the final outcome depending entirely upon how wisely and rationally peculiar circumstances are turned to account. The intuitive, mystical and subjective forces are potent, and might be expressed in either a highly constructive manner or in a dangerous and destructive way. Gain or loss depends upon restraints and sound logic and not temptest, confusion or emotional decisions. This applies to business as well as social and romantic probabilities. Be alert to outside deception as well as inner delusions or illusions.

A child born on this day may have exceptional promise of success, happiness and achievement in both business and private life, although its intuitive, subjective and romantic or mystical outlook may swerve it from the practical.

No Time For Dancing

By James Thrasher

Newspaper accounts of the celebrations which followed the news that Paris was liberated set us to wondering what American reaction will be when the fighting ceases in Europe and later in the Far East. Anyone who remembers Nov. 11, 1918, in this country remembers that it was a day of jubilation. But we venture to predict that the next Armistice Day will find us in a different mood.

Armistice Day in 1918, for all the undertone of sorrow and all the lives lost, was somewhat like a football victory at the annual homecoming game. There were bands and noisemakers and confetti and dancing in the streets. But we are likely to view the next Armistice Day as one that marks the passing of a crisis in a serious illness and the beginning of a long convalescence.

On Nov. 11, 1918, the fight was won and peace had come to stay. Only the very cynical or the very far-seeing doubted that Kings had lost their thrones; we embraced a world made safe for democracy. The war to end war was itself ended.

Today we can already see the tremendous job that lies beyond peace. We can see it in Italy where, while fighting continues, long-submerged parties and old rivalries have been reborn as the country struggles painfully toward stable government. We shall shortly see France tackle her hard problem of clearing out the decayed remnants of the Third Republic and founding a new, united Fourth.

The Balkans will have to bind up the reopened wounds of ageless, endless quarrels. Then China must resolve her unhappy internal situation. And these are only political problems. Such problems as food, health and currency, equally or more important, must be worked on at the same time.

Our armies in France have begun to capture the young first-line Nazi-nurtured cream of Hitler's forces. Interviews with these arrogant prisoners, ignorant of all culture save Hitler's, emphasize the staggering job of de- and re-educating that must be done in Germany. There is an equally difficult task of the same sort ahead of us in Japan.

It is well that we know how sick the world has been, and how contagious that sickness can be. Perhaps knowing will enable us to help nurse the world to real health this time—even though the magnitude of the task leaves no time or inclination for dancing in the streets next Armistice Day.

Most of us wouldn't mind if they rationed the ham we get over the radio.

The "Cultural Lag"

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SOCIOLOGISTS have a name for an attitude of mind, which they call "cultural lag." For instance, a large group of influential citizens subscribe, whether they know it or not, to Adam Smith's laissez-faire

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Ideas about political economy. They believe, for instance, that periods of unemployment are the fault of the unemployed; it's a man's own fault, laziness or lack of initiative if he is unemployed. The modern economist recognizes that conditions in the world today have forced us to go on past that theory and place the responsibility of unemployment and its relief on the government.

I do not know whether this is true or not. I am not a sociologist. I use it only because the term "cultural lag" is so appropriate to the thinking of many persons about the prevention of contagious diseases by individual vaccination of the entire population.

Triumph of Medicine
This, which has been accomplished with the diseases smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid fever, is the greatest triumph of modern medicine. Indeed of modern science. It is a sheer reversal of the malignancy of nature—a leap of man's intellect, imagination and ingenuity. The only accomplishments of man that are comparable to it are his discovery that useful plants could be deliberately grown from the proper seeds, that animals could be domesticated, that fire could be controlled for useful purposes and the principle of the wheel and these are applications of the bounty of Nature while preventive medicine is, as I say, a reversal of the malignancy of Nature. It is as meteorologists were able to prevent tornadoes, floods, and earthquakes. And, let us add, the final advantage in this field is that these particular methods have been tried so long that we know that they will do exactly what is claimed for them, and they work not haphazardly but the same under all circumstances.

Yet in the face of all this there is always a group afflicted with the "cultural lag"—the anti-vaccinationists and their ilk—some crank who is not going to have his child filled with dead typhoid germs or diphtheria toxoid poison, who continue to try to oppose these successes of the human genius.

These same people fall heavily for such bunk as testosterone to make old men young. But they oppose methods of prevention of diseases that in other days afflicted and killed millions of people all over the world, regardless of climate, all year round regardless of season.

Anti-Vaccinationists Group
To tell a man of the year 1800 that before a century and a half had passed smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid fever would have disappeared from the surface of the civilized earth and would no longer afflict mankind would have been to invite flat incredulity. The mind of that man of 1800 represents today's group of anti-vaccinationists with the "cultural lag."

Typhoid fever is one of the best examples. Inoculation of each individual against typhoid fever began about 1912. In 1910 in 78 American cities there were 30,000 cases of typhoid fever and 4,500 deaths. In

It is most important that we be careful to recognize the impulses of the Japanese themselves in such matters as whether they shall keep their emperor. I believe it would be better to let them keep him. It took a long time for the military men to persuade him to join up with the Axis. He is a liberal.

The simple answer to the question why we are at war is that we were attacked. The more comprehensive answer would include the part which our own sins of omission played by way of inviting that attack.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

From the U. S. A. to Brazil is a long way, but you'll find many familiar things in both places. A friendly spirit for one. Coca-Cola for another. In Rio de Janeiro, to say Have a "Coke" is to say We're glad to see you, just as when you offer Coca-Cola to a guest in your own home. In many lands around the globe, the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola has become a friendly greeting between neighbors.

DIARIES

I am writing under a heavy artillery barrage. Never have I imagined that war can be so horrible. Next to me our lieutenant has been hit and his head is practically severed from his body.

Kills Three Americans
July 7—Around noon mortar fire covers our position. Two Russian volunteers have been killed right next to me. I have taken their pistols and ammunition. They will not need it anymore anyway.

July 9—A nice Sunday. I was wounded today but was still lucky. Some grenade splinters from our own grenades hit me in the hip and right index finger. However, I killed my first American today. Three at one time. One had his hands up. I shot him first. Then I shot the other two. They really are gangsters, these Americans.

July 12—The division sent us to the Regimental CP and then again to the Battalion CP. Before we reached the CP, though, an American tank surprised us. The two men with the MG were hit right away and their MG put out of commission. Most of us were able to get away in time. At noon we attacked two assault guns. We advanced past dead Germans and Americans. We take their cigars, candies and cans of all sorts of food. Tastes damn good for a change. At night I find a dead American lieutenant and take his compass, his playing-cards, his pipe, his wallet and several other things. From now on this all belongs to me.

Flays Dead and Lives
Around 2200 the enemy broke through our lines on the right and the left flank. Everybody flees. Only one other man and I remain to try to halt the advance of the enemy. But now he is in the rear of us and he only reason I am still alive is that I played dead all night until they all passed. But they did get the soldier who had stayed with me. Finally I sneaked through their lines with one American rifle and pistol as booty.

July 13—I was brought back to my old unit and they all marveled at the rifle. But I just went to sleep.

July 15—Something must be wrong. The replacements we received today are either young kids who are scared of what is ahead of them, or they are old men, too old to fight.

Soldiers Complain Openly
July 18—For days and days I cannot remember how many we are forced to retreat. Men in my company begin to grumble. They always have been but never as openly as now.

July 21—Today I saw my first German plane since I have been at the front. There were 10 ME 109s. Where is our Luftwaffe when the enemy sends out all these planes? And what has happened to all the secret weapons? They surely will put an end to the advance of the enemy.

July 24—Last night I thought that my last hour had come. The worst artillery barrage that I have ever lived through. Today no one can see our vehicles on the side of the road and next to the hedgerows many disabled, some completely destroyed. Some are still burning. I don't know how many casualties there were, but there must have been quite a few. When is this senseless killing going to end? Sometimes I find myself thinking that it is not too important that we win or lose as long as I don't have to live through another night like this. How can we be expected to fight the artillery and the bombs with no more than a rifle?

July 27—I am really homesick for a change. How I would like to be home again and sleep and sleep and sleep. I hope the war will be over before Christmas, win or lose. I am too young to spend all my life away from my family.

Hitler May Escape To Spain, Argentina, Military Men Fear

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Secretary of State Hull said today Germany now is evidently desirous of a negotiated peace, but that the Allied position for unconditional surrender is too well known to require reiteration.

Hull also declared that the American government has constantly in mind that Adolf Hitler and some of his henchmen may try to escape from Germany to neutral countries. The government, he said, is working on that problem.

Military men have expressed apprehension that Hitler might find sanctuary in Argentina or Spain.

Hull recalled to his news conference that President Roosevelt appealed to the neutrals a year ago not to furnish refuge to any Nazi leader and that the British made similar overtures.

The question of a negotiated peace arose when newsmen asked Hull for comment on a broadcast by the German general staff spokesman, Lt. General Kurt Dittmar, that hope of victory was past, and that the German armies must fight on now for the best possible peace terms.

Hull replied that indicates the desire on the part of the German leaders for a negotiated peace and, of course, he added, there's nothing new for us to say about that.

NAZIS TESTIFY

er and thrust her alive into the white hot oven."

Hermann Vogel, 42, an SS group leader from Muhlheim, stared ahead with a set face as he told of shipping 18 carloads of clothing in two months to Germany from the Majdanek warehouse he supervised.

"Yes, all this clothing, even babies' garments, belonged to those executed," he said. "I have seen groups of 120 to 150 persons taken to the gas house in the evening and their bodies stacked outside the next morning. Yes, I knew children were murdered, but what could we small people in the SS do? We couldn't protest."

SS Kommandofuehrer Theodore Schoelen, 40, in charge of clothing collection at the shower room adjoining the gas chambers, claimed he never saw an execution—only corpses afterward. He admitted remembering Nov. 3, 1943, when, according to the camp records, 18,400 prisoners received "special treatment" which reduced the number of camp inmates by that number.

Orders From Berlin
"It was an order from above, perhaps direct from Berlin," he said. "The wireless played Strauss waltzes through the camp loudspeakers all that day and most of us were told to stay in barracks. I know nothing more about it. I always gave bread and cigarettes away to the prisoners."

SS Obersturmfuehrer Anton Ternes, a frog-faced man who handled Majdanek's finances, proudly referred to his age, 50, and his lieutenantcy in the first World war and then declared that the mass slaughter of Nov. 3 netted little jewelry or other valuables. "The camp physicians told me as many as 300 children were killed in a single day," he said. "I couldn't understand the systematic killing. I told my wife when I went home on furlough about it and she said, 'God will punish the German people for the crimes they do.'"

The Russian-Polish commission said the following facts had been adduced from seized documents, from testimony of the German personnel and of surviving inmates, such as the French communist, fisherman Corentin Leda of Brittany: Majdanek housed from 30,000 to 40,000 prisoners but the turnover in three years probably exceeded 600,000.

The gas chambers were sufficient to kill 2,000 in less than seven minutes. The crematory ovens handled 1,900 corpses in a 24-hour period. The majority of the dead were Soviet war prisoners, Poles and Jews, but every country in Europe was represented, also China.

CZECHS RISE UP AGAINST GERMANS

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Czechoslovak underground army came into the open today as a fighting unit. In its first communique, delivered to London by underground radio, it reported the capture of one town and fierce fighting against the Germans in three areas.

The communique issued by the Czechoslovak press bureau said: "The German high command has since Aug. 29 been occupying Slovakia. Czechoslovak troops in Slovakia, together with guerilla detachments, have offered resistance to the Germans."

"According to reports so far received, the town of Cadca, on the frontier between Slovakia and Moravia, has been taken by assault. "Heavy fighting has been reported from the regions of Zilina, Považská Bystrica and Trenčín."

BRICKER

Suspension of the black pencil provision, Governor Bricker explained, would apply to civilians as well as servicemen and women. "In my judgment," the governor said in a statement, "though this is intended in the interest of soldiers to meet practical difficulties in voting, the law requiring marking by lead pencil only will have to be suspended this year."

"I would not want to see the provision for voting by lead pencil permanently repealed, since it was enacted to prevent corrupt elections. In my judgment, it has been somewhat effective for that purpose."

Kelland Cites FDR Responsibility In Pearl Harbor Raid

(By Associated Press)

MONTEPELIER, Vt., Aug. 30.—Clarence Budington Kelland, author and Republican national committeeman from Arizona, declared today that President Roosevelt "cannot avoid responsibility" for the Pearl Harbor naval disaster which he said "lengthened the duration of the Japanese war, possibly by years."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Vermont state Republican convention, Kelland charged administration neglect of "elementary precautions" had subjected "America to the disgrace of the most tragic naval disaster in our history."

"Instead of having no effect upon the course of the Pacific war, Pearl Harbor lengthened it by months, perhaps by years, and the odium must attach to the highest authority which permitted the condition to exist," Kelland added.

Kelland predicted a Dewey-Baker victory in the November elections with the voters "turning over the conduct of our foreign affairs to an able, far-sighted, courageous President" belong to that party which alone has announced a coherent foreign policy and post-war plan."

Kelland charged that the administration, "knowing the imminence of war," had appeased Japan by supplying her with "oil and scrap iron to be used against our ally, China, and eventually against ourselves."

He also questioned what he termed "neglect" in garrisoning and supplying the Philippine islands for defense and in making "it possible for Japan to invade this continent and establish bases upon the islands of Alaska."

Deming, Pottery Teams Now On Top Of Class A League

Pumpers Defeat News, 6-2, China Blanks Paxsons, 2-0, To Move Into Two-Way Tie

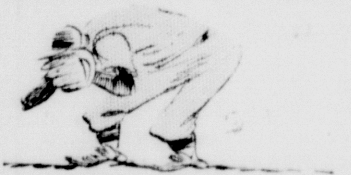

Class A softball reached a semi-climax yesterday as the Salem China and Deming teams chalked up wins over Paxsons and the News to set the stage for the fourth round final Thursday evening, when the two winners—now tied for the two top spots—clash to settle the fourth round title question.

Defeating the News, 6-2 to eliminate them from fourth round chances, Deming moved into a tie with the powerful Pottery, who clipped the Paxson aggregation 2-0 for their victory. Both squads now have round records of six wins and two losses and are booked to clean up the knotted matter Thursday.

Behind four-hit hurling and some powerful slugging by their all-around man, Kenny Brudery, Deming faced the News in the sixth inning by chalking up four big markers.

Until the fatal sixth, it was anybody's ball game but a walk, three hits and a pair of errors pushed across the four Pump scores and put the game on ice.

Brudery got into just one tight spot, in the third inning, but pulled himself out of it. Darrell Rosenberry led off for the opposition with a single and went to third when Chet Brautigam was safe on an error.

A stinging single to left field by Glenn Couchie scored Rosenberry with the first Neks tally and Brautigam and Couchie were on third and second with no one out. Julius Falk fanned and Orrie Wright had a long one to left for the second out. On the play, Brautigam

NEW YORK, Aug. 30. — Along about September or October (when the baseball season is over) those high-powered Navy ball teams at Norfolk, Great Lakes, Sampson and Bainbridge will be busted up and many of the players shipped overseas. Johnny Rigney, Eddie Robinson and Frankie Marino of Norfolk already have received their orders and Eddie Fletcher, Fred Chapman, Sherry Robertson, Maxie Wilson, Truck Fernandez and Bob Scheffing are due to leave Bainbridge. There's also a rumor (still unconfirmed) that Mickey Cochrane will be pushing off from Great Lakes.

PROGRESS NOTE
Commentary from an anonymous (by request) Southern College publicity man who has been campaigning for larger numbers on football jerseys:
"When our new jerseys arrived, the coach called me in to show 'em to me and said: 'I hope you're satisfied with the size of those numbers.' I compared them with last year's. They were two inches larger, front and back. 'Swell, I said, thinking I finally had got somewhere.' 'Well, it was a mistake,' the coach said. 'They were supposed to be the same as last year, but I guess we'll have to keep 'em, times being as they are.'"

SHORTS AND SHELLS
The golf pros, who finish their summer tour at Dallas, Sept. 10, will open the "Winter" campaign by shooting for $12,333 in War bonds at Portland, Ore., Nov. 23-26. If southern training is allowed next spring, the Dodgers may go to Mexico City—which won't be far enough away to suit some fans.

Bill Corum, New York Journal-American: "Joe McCarthy is using 'Milkman Jim' Turner so regularly as a relief pitcher these days that we are beginning to wonder if Joe's theme song for the moment may not be: 'Milkman, keep those batters quiet.'"

Columbus Auditors Take Softball Title

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Aug. 30.—The Ferguson Auditors of Columbus today ruled the men's softball circles in Ohio, largely because Harry Strawser's iron arm gave out in the championship game.

Strawser, pitcher for the Chillicothe Texaco team, had hurled five games and 45 innings before the final contest, with no relief. Against the heavy hitters on the Ferguson team his magic played out and the final score was 16-1.

Bill Baird and George Sunker each collected three hits and Tom Kison hit for the circuit in the seventh when the Ferguson scored three runs.

All-Stars Perform Tonight!

Battle Between Bears and Collegers Looks Like High-Scoring Event

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 30.—For four straight seasons, the All-Star football game has bubbled over with touchdowns and tonight's 11th renewal of the talent-packed classic—pitting the Chicago Bears and the college realm's best before an expected throng of 50,000—should be still another sizzler.

It's possible the epic 45-28 score in the Green Bay Packers' 1940 triumph may be approached—and you pick the winner—when the Bears' fire their T-formation and Adroit Sid Luckman against such break-away gallopers as Creighton Miller of Notre Dame and Charles Trippi of Georgia, and Tulsa's Super-Slinger, Glenn Dobbs, of the All-Stars.

Bears Odds On

Bet-makers are siding with the Bears, 9-5. The Bears own three of the five professional triumphs in the series and played a scoreless tie in the 1934 inaugural.

But unless the pro champions are geared to go 60 wide-open minutes, they may suffer the same fate as the Washington Redskins in last year's contest when the All-Stars romped to a 27-7 win.

A tip-off that Northwestern's Lynn Waldroff, All-Star head coach, will send his charges swinging for touchdowns at the opening whiff came in his last-minute selection of Miller as starting full-back.

Same Backfield

At the outset, at least, it will be Dobbs, Trippi, Miller and Quarterback Lou Saban of Indiana trying to outlast and out-hammer Signal-Caller Johnny Long, a Bear freshman, halfbacks Ray Nolting and Doug McNulty and Fullback Gary Fannelli.

Tonight's game already has set two series records. All seats were sold out 10 days ago and the gross receipts, net proceeds of which goes to military charity, are expected to be the largest in the event's history.

Wellsville Grid Chances To Be Built Around Five Returning Letter Winners

Wally Ingalls, new gridiron master at Wellsville High school, is working daily with a squad of nearly 50 candidates, including five lettermen—all of whom are linemen but one—in preparation for his initial contest against Sciencville on Sept. 15.

With only five of the slow but large Tigers of 1943 back to work with, Ingalls, basketball coach last year, has plenty of problems and plenty of work to do before the first game just two weeks away.

Taking over where Coach John Caban left off last year, Ingalls, a former Carnegie Tech star in 1937-38, has Back Johnny Carter, End Al Checkler, Tackle Carl Taylor, End Ken Carter and Guard Russ Carter to make up the nucleus of his first Tiger edition.

The Bengals loom as a heavy squad, with the usual Wellsville size as a definite advantage to what will be an inexperienced team.

Grid and Cage Mentor

The new mentor was made both football and basketball coach this season after Caban accepted a position at Columbiana High school to replace Coach Merle Atkins, who is now in the Navy.

Ingalls has been active in Columbiana county sports since his first season with the Bengals as basketball coach in 1942. He has announced many sporting events in that time. A former Mars, Pa., High school coach, the new man also assisted in football at Geneva college, Pa., before going to Wellsville.

Here is the complete Wellsville schedule:

Sept. 15—Sciencville, home.
Sept. 23—Chester, there.
Sept. 29—Steubenville Central, there.
Oct. 6—Toronto, home.
Oct. 13—Salem, there.
Oct. 21—Follansbee, there.
Oct. 28—Mingo Junction, home.
Nov. 3—Jefferson Union, home.
Nov. 10—Grand, there.
Nov. 23—East Liverpool, home.

LOOKS LIKE THAT BROWN TAILSPIN IS ALL FINISHED

Leaders Snap Back To Get In Flag-Winning Form Against Tribe

By JACK HAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)

There was a suspicion going the rounds today that the St. Louis tailspin was over as the Browns went into the final test of their last long road trip with a four-game lead and visions of happy harvest days ahead.

Detroit appeared to present the main problem at the moment as Steve O'Neill had his Tigers in second place, two points ahead of Boston, and was scheduled to take on St. Louis in a "crusader" series in the Browns' back yard this weekend.

Tigers Move To Second

The Tigers took over the runner-up spot yesterday as Dizzy Trout ran the show all by himself in shutting out Chicago, 7-0, while Boston and New York split. Trout hung up his 22nd win and 8th straight but hogged the headlines by smashing his fifth homer with one on and adding a double and single to drive in five runs.

Boston stopped New York 8-1, and the Yanks countered with 11-2 for an even break.

Philadelphia scored a double-barreled triumph over Washington, 3-1 and 11-4.

St. Louis rolled up an 8-3 night game margin on Cleveland.

The Cardinals continued to gun for the Cubs' 1906 record by notching victory No. 91 at Cincinnati's expense, 3-0.

Chicago thumped Pittsburgh 15-4, but the Pirates bounced back for a 5-4 verdict to square matters. Brooklyn shaded the Phillies, 2-1, and Mel Ott and Erie Lombardi

Tennis Enthusiasts Plan Annual Court Tourney At Club On Holiday Weekend

Tennis enthusiasts will have their annual outing—the Salem Country club doubles and singles tournament—over the holiday weekend, according to an announcement today.

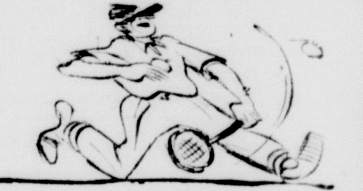

Although this year's event will not be considered a county tournament as in past years, a local field will participate with no limitations on age or talent.

Starting Sunday afternoon at 2, when the drawings and pairing will be made at the courts at the club, the tourney will run through Sunday and Monday, with the finals slated for late Monday afternoon.

Loren Early, winner of last year's county singles title, and a partner in the winning doubles combination, will have charge of the drawings and pairings. Chairman John Mulford said today.

Further information desired by interested parties can be secured by calling Early, Mulford said. The affair is open to any resident of Salem or vicinity, man or woman, boy or girl.

Reports from the club reveal that socked homers to help New York's Bill Voiselle grab a 4-2 victory over Boston.

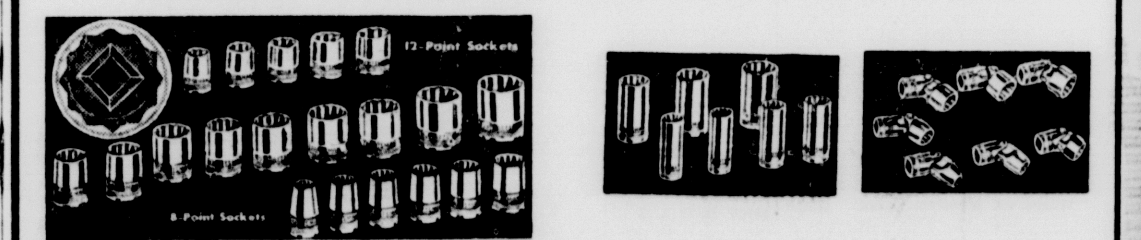

the courts are in good shape this year and should make for excellent tournament competition. The lack of rain, up until the past two weeks, made the clay courts nearly cement-like on the surface and the recent rains have given them the needed life for tourney play.

Entries in the tournament can be made up until the time of the pairings on Sunday.

NEW YORK — Lou Boudreau, manager and shortstop who finished a game behind the bat for Cleveland in Yankee Stadium the other afternoon, was a catcher in high school at Harvey, Ill., before he entered Illinois.

mile front, driving northward toward the Pas De Calais area, and wrecking any German hope of a stand on the lower Seine.

The strategic port of Le Havre was rapidly being outflanked.

American near the Italian frontier at a point 90 miles above Nice were forced back by Germans reportedly crossing into France from Italy. French troops advancing 13 miles farther west of the Rhone reached Baginols.

Allied troops were cleaning up the northeastern outskirts of Paris, and advancing on the northwest toward an early juncture with the forces already over the Seine.

The Canadian bridgehead over the Seine has been expanded until now it almost touches the British. A linking would form a solid British-Canadian-American front over the river.

A front dispatch said Germans in front of the Canadians and British were known to be fearful of a trap by Patton's men, whose advances threaten to seal off the Pas De Calais area from behind.

The battle for Brest on the tip of Brittany peninsula continued against stubborn resistance.

The War Today

The fluidity of the present fighting in France as exemplified by unpredictable Patton, who emerges so fast that he catches up with himself, renders the future of an army in retreat most uncertain and precarious. Thus, for example, if we know the Hitlerites normally would make a stand on the Somme river in the northern tip of France, there's no assurance now that they will be able to reorganize on the line in view of the Allied effort which has taken American advance guards to within less than two miles of Belgium.

It's possible that when the Germans near their own frontiers, they shall see a reversion to static defense in the great Siegfried line, the Maginot line, or both. If Hitlerites can maintain their organization. There may be a stand behind the Oder against the Russians. Then we shall see whether the Fuehrer can defend himself from being flanked. Anyway, lines will be taken.
